

HEALTH AND SOCIAL CARE

INTEGRATED CARE places individuals at the centre of the design and delivery of care with the aim of improving outcomes, satisfaction and value for money.

Integrated care has been shown to reduce unplanned admissions and delayed discharge...

whilst helping people to live independently for longer.

Integration of care can provide better, more cost-effective services...

and improve quality of life for people with long-term conditions.

