

Social workers navigate between community and hospital to assist the transition for some patient journeys.

Social workers also have statutory safeguarding responsibilities, sometimes investigating or overseeing the process.

Social workers are not involved with all discharges, but are involved with larger numbers of older adults discharge journey.

Social workers work in a whole variety of teams, some are embedded in stroke and trauma services, whilst others are attached or aligned to health.

Social workers describe their role as Advisors, Advocators and Assessors

SOCIAL WORKERS ARE THE BRIDGE BETWEEN HOSPITAL AND HOME.

